Our Process "Giclee" pronounced "zheeclay" A French word meaning, "fine spray". It is a computer generated print that is produced by the spraying of an image onto fine art media. We produce our giclees by taking a high quality digital file of the original work, then print them using our high quality printer. Our inks are specially formulated so that the 12 fine print heads can spurt jets of ink in minute droplets at a resolution of 4200 dpi. The medium used, such as photo paper, watercolor paper, canvas, vinyl, acetate, or backlight film, is specially prepared to accept this type of printing.
